Objective

To serve as a Registered Nurse on a dynamic team in an acute care setting. To use critical thinking skills in a high stakes environment while providing outstanding, compassionate, and safe patient care. Exercise proven leadership skills to strengthen the team dynamic.

Experience

November 2020-current

Gastrointestinal Services | St. Joseph's Medical Center

I actively participate in several roles across four hospitals in GI. I am competent in admit/recovery, procedure assist, conscious sedation, and scope room high level disinfectant processes. I have been trained to administer and maintain sedation and analgesia by order of the physician. I have been an integral part of OR cases including case set-up, procedure assist, and clean up. I have also been an integral part of cases with the travel cart in both the ICU and ED. I demonstrated outstanding responsibility by providing on-call coverage with an expedient response time and 100% reliability. I have demonstrated IV competency throughout my practice. I have built a good rapport the doctors, nurses, and support staff. I am a team player and am always willing to help others to ensure that our patients receive top quality care in a safe environment.

August 2018– November 2020

Registered Nurse | Medical Surgical 5th Floor Unit | St. Anthony's Hospital

I provided nursing care to a bundle of 5-6 patients on the medical-surgical floor in an acute care hospital. I used time management skills and critical thinking to prioritize the needs of my patients throughout the 12-hour shift. During this time, I built rapport with my patients and their families, administered medications using the 7 rights of medication administration for patient safety, followed written and verbal orders, performed patient assessments, relayed critical information in a timely manner using SBAR, performed various patient care procedures including those requiring sterile procedure, and monitored patients for signs of change in their condition. I completed each shift with a bedside handoff to communicate pertinent patient details to the next RN. I received four Daisy Award Nominations during my employment at St. Anthony's Hospital, obtained Medical-Surgical Certification, and a Bachelor's in Science Degree in Nursing.
