- Ability to work as a team. I am a huge advocate for my patient(s). Knowing that the OR can be a very complex environment I asses the room making sure materials, equipment, medications, and most importantly the team is ready.
- Communication is one of the most important in all aspects of the OR starting with the patient. Some patients can be terrified or nervous and ask many questions especially the same questions over and over. My job is to answer all questions to the best of my ability even if it is repetitive. I use a calming voice and gain their trust to establish a trusting relationship.
- I am bilingual. I can read, write, and speak Spanish.
- Since my years of working in the OR I understand nurses must be excellent problem solvers. I am capable and confident with making critical decisions when procedures do not go as planned. I can asses and respond appropriately when and if situations change or arise.
- I have experience working in;
 - Cardiology
 - Ophthalmology
 - Orthopedic
 - General
 - ENT
 - Podiatry
 - Endoscopy
- Skills: communication is important to me in all aspects especially with my surgical team. I believe the team needs to be in sync in order to anticipate the needs of the team and to maintain contact with patient family if it turns into a lengthy process.
- I pay attention to detail. I have been told numerous times by my coworkers. This helps me help the OR team to be able to assist with procedures simultaneously listening to the surgeon and monitoring the patient.
