I am an outgoing, caring, very reliable, personable, team player. I am looking for a position as a Registered Nurse. I am looking to find a position that I can show my nursing skills and knowledge. I would like to find a place that I can grow my career in this field. I am a recent graduate from Endicott College, as I just obtained a Bachelor's of Science in Nursing in May 2021. I passed my NCLEX on August 23rd and I currently have a license in MA and NH. I am interested in both Maternal Newborn and ICU nursing, but I am very open to other new opportunities.

Birthing Center Student Internship

Holy Family Hospital - Methuen, MA

September 2020 to December 2020

I completed a 3 month nursing student internship at Holy Family Hospital in Methuen, MA, where I worked under a Registered Nurse preceptor on their Birthing Unit. During this internship, my focused area was Postpartum care, but I also had the opportunity to gain experience in Labor and Delivery. I learned how to perform postpartum assessments, cervical assessments during labor, and newborn assessments. I also was given the opportunity to administer medications, give injections (such as Rhogam), and perform heel-stick blood sugars on newborns. I practiced documentation on patients, as well as participated in reports/patient hand-offs. I am very grateful for the opportunity I was given and the experience I obtained in maternal newborn nursing.

PCA Personal Care Assistant

Additional Information

I work well with others and have great communication skills. I also have basic math skills and I am good with computers and documentation. I have previously used the following EHR systems: Epic, MEDITECH, and eClinical Works. I work well with all ages, as I completed my internship hours in the Birthing Center at Holy Family Hospital in Methuen, MA. I have a lot of experience with newborns and postpartum patients. Due to my current position I have now also branched out to various illnesses and various age patients. I graduated high school in the National Honors Society, and made the Deans List for the fall 2017 semester at Endicott College.
