I interact well with people and animals, i am a self starter, self motivation, and jump to big challenges and work my way through things. Once I start something I finish it. I view myself as a great person and am willing to learn new things and learn how to do things more efficiently. I learn very quick and work hard. I like to encourage people, including myself to work harder and to do a good job. I take corrective criticism well and will do whatever it takes to do the job better. I get along with everyone. I also love trying something new and challenging as often as possible. I am wanting to change up my career. So any chance I have to achieve that, I will.
