Being a newer nurse I feel as though I have a lot to offer, a majority of my work in healthcare has been in geriatrics, caring for patients with dementia, rehabilitating patients as well as working in long term care, and most recently assisted living. I am always excited and open to learning a new job, to learn new skills, and to apply everything that I have learned in nursing school to my everyday work. I welcome a new challenge, and only look forward to learning with your company and becoming part of a new healthcare team. Please give me the opportunity to impress you with my knowledge and dedicated work ethic. I look forward to hearing from you so that I can continue my career as a nurse.

Authorized to work in the US for any employer
