My name is Renee Chavis, I've been a nurse for 21 years with a plethora of experience! My most recent work experience involves low, moderate, and high risk L&D/ maternal/child health care. I have successfully thrived in the high stress, very fast paced and unpredictable work environment that it has consistently proven to be. This area demands great attention to detail along with the outstanding ability to provide exceptional care while maintaining self composure and high performance. Being a strong leader, mentor, and team player is a necessity. A large part of my job duties on a daily basis involve quick critical thinking, situational awareness, problem solving, Communication, Education, teaching, Observation, triage, initial and ongoing assessment with never ending compassion, empathy, and genuine care towards those I serve. The client/patient interview, of current situation, back ground, Health history, care recommendations, plan of and execution of care is ongoing. The information is valuable. It is quickly and as accurately obtained as possible in order to identify and implement the most effective plan of care for immediate needs. These recommendations, plans and implementation of immediate care needs are related to the collection of pertinent information of the current situation along with pertinent health history. This valuable information allows the astute, effective nurse to adequately inform the necessary appropriate medical personnel of the patients immediate needs. This practice is an effective form of communication that allows for the appropriately trained providers , care teams , ancillary staff, and support personnel to quickly and effectively prepare all necessary provisions to be available and prepped for adequate, timely, and excellent medical care for every patient's individual needs. Patient's and provider's rely on these perfectly orchestrated performances and we are responsible for providing them. I'm very educated, experienced, and self motivated with an outstanding work ethic and dedication to my patients and my coworkers.

I do have very high standards and exceptional expectations of not only myself, but I also take pride on the premise of only working for exceptional medical service providers. I believe that medical service providers must constantly seek to attain, maintain, achieve and passionately pursue a mission to be the most sought after provider of the most exceptional medical services and the most desirable employer., I desire to be part of an exceptional team that seeks to consistently provide outstanding performance contributions and exceptional services to their clients and to their employees., I intend to provide outstanding contributions to clients and to my employer.

While collecting the appropriate and ever evolving information , the nurse takes actions to provide superior and highly effective communication with the client and team.

Another highly effective skill I have and continue to build on is the ability to successfully provide valuable education to the patient and or HIPPA approved care giver, support persons, & family.

While sharing of sensitive private health information as needed the nurse ensures superb professionalism. The nurse passionately advocates and meets the immediate and ongoing needs of the patient. Through guiding the process of the needed treatments or referral/connection.

The combination of ongoing assessment, teaching, and effective communication is always necessary providing valuable insight and tools to assist with providing exceptional care.

Collecting information is also used in the implementation and execution of the personal plan of care. Initial and ongoing assessment, monitoring, management, and Physical hands on care is essential to the obstetric patient.

I enjoy and frequently provide an abundance of educational, I have a passion for Nursing . Frequently advocating for my patients is particularly important, highly needed and I personally practice it whenever I think it is needed. I feel that effective patient advocacy and a passion for exceptional caring is an invaluable skill that many nurses fear. I've worked with patients from the beginning of their Pregnancy and beyond Delivery caring for both baby , mom, and significant others/ support persons. Although I have experienced working in many specialties in my nursing career. Including medurg, preop, intraop, Postop, PACU, Neuro, adult and pediatric home health. In the past 11 years I've spent the majority of my work life caring for the health of Women and Children. The past 7 years I worked strictly with Lexington Medical Center as a Nationally Certified Critical Maternal/Child Labor and Delivery RN. LMC is a tertiary level 3 trauma hospital equipped for high risk moms and neonates. In that role I work an L&D/ neonatal triage unit at least once a week. I rotate through Triage, Antepartum, Operating Room, Post anesthesia care unit, circulation, scrub, and assist . Labor and Delivery natural birth, epidural, IOL. Routine , high risk, scheduled , Emergency , fetal demise, birth defects, cesarean section etc etc for 11 years Routine and high risk. Maternal High risk, neonates high risk.

Authorized to work in the US for any employer
